

Water Video Competition Winners

Future Teachers Preparing to be Agents of Change

ISE 301 - Spring 2017

First Prize Cambodia Water Crisis

Katie Knapp, Erica Ause, Alexa Brown, Morgan Denyes

“It gave me perspective about how different my relationship with water is compared to people in other parts of the world.”

Erica Ause, 1st prize team winner

“I feel that in order to get students to make a difference, they must care enough to do so. By teaching students about the issue and giving them enough knowledge to engage them, they are more likely to want to make a difference.”

Morgan Denyes

Second Place: Journey to Water

Maggie Keech, Maura Jones, Hayley Crouchman, Olivia Fox

“The project made an impact on my life so much so that my roommates and I sat down and had a talk about how we could save water around the house.”

2nd prize winner Olivia Fox

Third Place: Prescription Pollution

Carley Hall, Mackenzie Smith, Emily Peterson

Honorable Mention

A Deeper Look into the Flint Water Crisis

Claire Wieson, Alyson Weeda, Jenny Willerer, Abby Barrett

Honorable Mention

Flint Water Crisis

Maya Randall

Christina Haggerty

Judges Choice

A Sea of Troubles

Natalie Zielinski

“As a future teacher, I think it is really important to educate our students on pollution problems in our world. We have the opportunity to influence our future generations in a positive way and to make them really care about the future of our planet.”

Natalie Zielinski
Judge's Choice

Judge's Choice: Water Pollution from Household Cleaning Products

Laura Cosentino, Elise Cothoven, Lauren Trolz, Jessie Livingston

Judge's Choice
Make Our Great Lakes Clean Again

Danny Mogill
Olivia Kraueter
Meghan Mossing
Kristin Hanzek